

ECCS Honors Reading Program

In her writings, Charlotte Mason coined the phrase “living books”. These books were described as books that display “imagination, originality, and the human touch”. Students who participate and meet the reading goals will be recognized at the end of the school year, and their achievement will be recorded on their report card. However, the goal of reading is enjoyment and inspiration.

Guidelines:

1. Books read for the Honors Reading Program must be chosen from the reading list posted on the school website. Books with an asterisk (*) can be found in our library. (Only the fiction list has been completed in this way.)
2. Lists are broken down by grade levels.
3. Students may read books above their grade level, but not below. If your child struggles with reading, please speak with the librarian. Permission to read a selection of books from the previous grade level may be granted.
4. To ensure a variety of books and authors are read, large series like The Ranger’s Apprentice and The Boxcar Children have a 5 book limit.
5. Confirmation of a student reading an entire book will be supplied by the parent’s signed initials next to the book title on the list printed from the ECCS website. The book title should also be highlighted for clarity.
6. There will be three honors levels: bronze, silver, and gold.
7. In kindergarten through second grades, parents may read aloud to their children, or children may read to parents.
8. In kindergarten through second grades, books 40 pages and less count as 1 book; 41-80 pages count as 2 books; 81-120 pages count as 3 books, and so on.
9. In all grades, at least one book must be read aloud as a family. If your child struggles with reading, you may read the other books aloud together.
10. Highlighted, initialed lists should be turned into the school office by the deadline stated in the school calendar and 4th wall.

Please highlight the books read by or with your child this year. If other titles are indicated as allowed you may write those added titles to the side or at the end of the list. Once the list is complete, total the number of books read, and write the total in the space above. Some longer books may count as more than one book: 40 pages and less count as 1 book; 41-80 pages count as 2 books, 81-120 pages count as 3 books, and so on. Books marked with an asterisk (*) indicate the ECCS Library has a copy. Only 5 books may be read from each series.
